Code of Conduct

Introduction

SWS AI expects all employees to conduct themselves with integrity, respect, and professionalism at all times — whether in the office, working remotely, or representing the company externally.

Professional Behavior

Employees must:

- Treat all colleagues, clients, and vendors with respect.
- Maintain confidentiality of sensitive business information.
- Avoid conflicts of interest and disclose any potential conflicts to HR.
- Represent the company honestly and professionally in all external communications.

Anti-Harassment Policy

SWS AI has a zero-tolerance policy for harassment of any kind — physical, verbal, sexual, or psychological. Any form of bullying, intimidation, or hostile behavior is strictly prohibited. Violations will be investigated and may result in termination.

Social Media Policy

Employees must not post confidential company information, product roadmaps, client data, or internal communications on any public platform. Personal opinions shared online must not be linked to SWS AI without explicit approval.

Conflict of Interest

Employees must avoid situations where personal interests conflict with the interests of SWS AI. This includes taking up freelance work for competitors, accepting gifts from clients beyond a nominal value, or making decisions influenced by personal gain.

Intellectual Property

All work products, code, designs, and ideas created during employment are the intellectual property of SWS AI. Employees must not share proprietary code, algorithms, or product information outside the company.

Reporting Violations

Employees who witness or experience a violation of this Code of Conduct must report it to HR or their manager immediately. Anonymous reporting mechanisms are available. Retaliation against anyone who reports in good faith is strictly prohibited.
